Objectives of the Event

- To introduce students to the concept and importance of the Summer Internship Program (SIP) in shaping their professional careers.
- To provide insights into the process of securing and maximizing the benefits of internships.
- To guide students on how to leverage internship experiences to enhance their employability and career prospects.

Event Description

The seminar titled "SIP (Summer Internship Program) - First Step Towards a Professional Path" was held on 5 February 2021 at the DIMR Seminar Hall. The event featured Prof. Iftekhar Khan, who shared his extensive knowledge and experience with the students, emphasizing the critical role that internships play in professional development.

Prof. Iftekhar Khan began by highlighting the significance of internships as a bridge between academic learning and real-world professional experience. He explained how internships provide students with hands-on experience, industry insights, and an opportunity to apply theoretical knowledge in practical settings.

The seminar covered various aspects of the internship process, including how to search for and secure internships, the importance of networking, and the steps involved in the application process. Prof. Khan provided practical tips on preparing an impressive resume, writing effective cover letters, and acing internship interviews.

Additionally, Prof. Khan discussed the importance of setting clear goals for the internship period and maintaining a proactive approach to learning and development during the internship. He shared success stories of former interns who effectively utilized their internship experiences to secure full-time job offers and advance their careers.

The session included an interactive Q&A segment, where students asked questions about specific challenges they might face during their internship search and received personalized advice from Prof. Khan. This interaction helped students gain clarity on various aspects of the SIP and how to navigate them successfully.

Learning Outcomes

- Enhanced understanding of the importance and benefits of participating in the Summer Internship Program (SIP).
- Practical knowledge of the steps and strategies for securing and excelling in internships.
- Increased confidence in leveraging internship experiences to boost employability and career growth.

Objectives of the Event:

- To learn the techniques of solving numerical problems.
- To know the expectation and required skills from management students.

Event Description:

Dnyansagar Institute of Management & Research had organized a 'Decision Science Competition' for the students of Management programs of SP Pune University. This event was supported by 'puneMBA.com'. To our utmost surprise, the concept was very well received by the student community. We received an astonishingly overwhelming response and witnessed more than 350 registrations. The students enthusiastically participated in the numerical solving competition.

The competition was graced with the address by three subject experts;
Dr. Satish Ubale, Director, Matrix School of Management Studies, who addressed the participants on the topic 'Thought behind the redesigning of the Syllabus and expectation from Students'.

Dr. Roshan Kazi, Director, Allana Institute of Management Sciences, who guided the participants on the topic 'Future of Data Science and how Decision Science can help?'
Dr. Ranjeet Chitale, Associate Professor, PUMBA & Renowned Author, who guided the students on the topic 'How to study and score in Decision Science?'
DIMR congratulates All the Winners & Participants from various Management Institutes across of SP Pune University

Learning Outcome:

- Students learnt about techniques of solving numerical problems.
- Students got the knowledge about industry expectations from management students.

Objectives:

- To share success stories of DIMR students who participated in the International Work Experience Program in Agriculture.
- To provide insights into the opportunities and challenges faced in international agricultural work.
- To inspire and motivate students to explore international work opportunities in agriculture.

Event Description:

DIMR organized an enlightening online session titled "International Work Experience Program in Agriculture," featuring the success stories of our students—Sachin Dalve, Sachin Pawar, and Maruti Koli. The session aimed to provide insights into the international agricultural work experience and inspire other students to pursue similar opportunities.

The guest speakers, who are DIMR students with firsthand international work experience in agriculture, shared their journeys and the invaluable lessons they learned. They spoke about the various aspects of their work, the skills they developed, and the challenges they overcame. Each speaker highlighted different facets of international agricultural work, from innovative farming techniques to understanding global agricultural markets.

Key Learning Outcomes:

- Students were inspired by the success stories and motivated to pursue international work opportunities.
- The session provided a deep understanding of modern agricultural practices and global agricultural trends.

Objectives of the Event

- To introduce faculty members to the concept of geographical indication and its importance in protecting intellectual property.
- To provide insights into the legal framework and registration process of geographical indications.
- To discuss the impact of geographical indications on regional economies and local communities.

Event Description

The online workshop on "Geographical Indication with respect to Intellectual Property Rights (IPR)" was held on 6 September 2020 via Google Meet. The event featured Prof. P D Sable, an expert in Intellectual Property Rights, as the guest speaker. The workshop aimed to provide faculty members with a comprehensive understanding of geographical indications and their significance in the field of IPR.

Prof. P D Sable began the workshop by explaining the concept of geographical indication, emphasizing its role in protecting products that have a specific geographical origin and possess qualities or a reputation due to that origin. He highlighted examples of well-known geographical indications, such as Darjeeling tea, Champagne, and Parmesan cheese, to illustrate the importance of this type of intellectual property protection.

The workshop covered the legal framework surrounding geographical indications, including the registration process and the criteria that products must meet to qualify for this protection. Prof. Sable discussed the benefits of registering geographical indications, such as preventing unauthorized use of the product name and enhancing the marketability and economic value of the product.

In addition, Prof. Sable addressed the impact of geographical indications on regional economies and local communities. He explained how protecting these unique products can promote local culture, boost tourism, and support rural development. The workshop also included a discussion on the challenges faced in the implementation and enforcement of geographical indications, and Prof. Sable provided insights into potential solutions to these issues.

The session included an interactive Q&A segment, where faculty members had the opportunity to ask questions and seek clarification on various aspects of geographical indications. This interactive element ensured that participants could gain a deeper understanding of the topic and its practical implications.

Objectives:

- To discuss the future of education post-pandemic.
- To explore the challenges and opportunities presented by the shift to online learning.

Event Description:

DIMR hosted an insightful online guest lecture on the "Impact of COVID-19 on Education," featuring Dr. Sanjay Shinde. The lecture aimed to delve into the profound changes brought about by the pandemic in the educational field and to explore the long-term implications of these changes. Dr. Shinde began the session by providing an overview of the initial challenges faced by educational institutions globally due to the sudden shift from traditional classroom settings to online platforms. He highlighted key areas affected by the pandemic, including accessibility, quality of education, and the digital divide.

Throughout the lecture, Dr. Shinde discussed several key aspects:

Transition to Online Learning:

The rapid adaptation to online teaching methods and tools, and its effectiveness.

Challenges Faced:

Issues such as digital divide, lack of resources, and the mental health impact on students and educators.

Opportunities for Innovation:

The potential for digital tools to enhance learning experiences and the rise of EdTech solutions.

Future of Education:

Predictions on how the educational landscape might evolve post-pandemic, including blended learning models.

Key Learning Outcomes:

- Students gained a comprehensive understanding of how COVID-19 has affected various aspects of education.
- Insights into effective strategies and tools used by institutions to continue education during the pandemic.
- Recognition of the challenges faced by students and educators, particularly regarding access to technology and internet connectivity.
