CCE 1: Poster Presentation on Business Leader

Students are required to prepare a poster presentation on the allocated business leader. The poster presentation should effectively showcase key aspects of the leader's life, career, and contributions to the business world. The purpose of this task is to help you understand the role of leadership in shaping industries and to enhance your presentation skills.

The poster should include the following elements:

1. Professional Biography:

A brief overview of the leader's career, key milestones, and major achievements.

2. Contributions to the Business World:

Discuss the significant contributions made by the leader to their industry or business world, including major projects, innovations, or strategic decisions.

3. Personality Traits:

Highlight important personality traits that define the leader, such as integrity, resilience, or visionary thinking, and explain how these traits contributed to their success.

4. Leadership Style:

Provide an analysis of the leader's leadership style (e.g., transformational, visionary, autocratic, etc.) and how it impacted their business and team.

Guidelines:

- Ensure that your poster is visually engaging, with a clear layout, appropriate images, and easy-to-read fonts.
- Use bullet points, diagrams, or info graphics to simplify information and highlight key points.
- Keep text concise and focus on impactful information.
- Your presentation should be able to engage the audience and provide a clear understanding of the business leader's significance.

Please feel free to reach out if you have any questions or need assistance.

CCE 2: Scrapbook on Movie Review and OB Lessons

As part of your CCE, you are required to create a scrapbook that combines a movie review with OB lessons learned from the movie. The scrapbook should be both creative and insightful, follow the below guidelines:

1. Movie Review:

Provide a brief review of the movie, focusing on its plot, themes, characters, and any significant takeaways.

2. OB Lessons:

Identify key management lessons demonstrated in the movie. These can include aspects like leadership, decision-making, teamwork, conflict management, innovation, or problem-solving.

For each lesson, support it with specific incidents or scenes from the movie that clearly demonstrate the management concept in action.

3. Scrapbook Design:

Be creative! Use images, quotes, and captions to make your scrapbook visually engaging.

Include movie stills, graphics, or sketches to support your review and lessons.

Ensure the scrapbook is neatly organized and easy to follow.

4. Submission Details:

Format: Handmade or digital scrapbooks are accepted.

Your scrapbook should reflect thoughtful analysis of the movie and demonstrate a clear connection between entertainment and real-world management principles. We look forward to seeing your creative and analytical skills!

If you have any questions, please feel free to reach out.

CCE 3: Self-Reflection Diary on Organizational Behavior (OB) Lessons

Students are required to maintain a self-reflection diary focused on the Organizational Behavior (OB) lessons learned throughout the course. This reflective exercise will help you connect theory with personal experiences, enhancing your understanding of OB concepts and their application in real-life situations.

Instructions:

1. Content of the Diary:

- Reflect on key OB concepts discussed in class (leadership, teamwork, motivation, ethics, organizational culture, etc.).
- Provide real-life examples or personal experiences where you observed or applied these concepts (either in past jobs, internships, group projects, or daily life).
- Discuss how these lessons have shaped your perspective on working in an organization or how they can be applied in your future career.
- Highlight challenges you faced in understanding or applying these lessons and how you overcame them.

2. Reflection Guidelines:

- Write a weekly reflection summarizing the OB lessons learned during that week.
- Each entry should be 200-300 words, concise and thoughtful.
- Feel free to use personal anecdotes, examples from media, or hypothetical scenarios to support your reflection.

3. Sections to Include:

- Introduction: A short introduction to the purpose of your self-reflection.
 - Weekly Reflections: Reflect on the topics covered each week, linking them to your experiences or observations.

- Conclusion: Summarize the overall impact of the OB lessons on your personal and professional development.

Submission Details:

- Format: The diary can be handwritten or typed, and should be submitted as a journal or compiled document.
- Length: Minimum of 6-8 weekly entries.
- Evaluation: You will be assessed on depth of reflection, connection to OB concepts, and practical insights
